Glades Girl Scout Program Seeks Funds

CAMPING OUT brings a feeling of belonging to Girl Scouts. Their experiences bring them closer to nature and at the same time provides fun and association with others with mutual problems. This scene is a recent camp-out on the shore of Lake Okeechobee.

PATRIOTIC OBSERVANCES and community participation mark another phase of the Glades Girl Scout program. Seen here a group of girls are taking part in a recent parade and learning community spirit through their experiences.

Volunteer members of the Palm-Glades Girl Scout Council has few professional workers compared to the scope and range of the many other voluntary workers. Sponsors of the Council Apple Group spend their own time and money for much of the expenses of the program.

Support of the program through community donations, they point out, finds the donor receiving rewards for money given through extended services and the knowledge that the money is being wisely used to train young girls in community service.

Some of the services include babysitting duties by Girl Scouts at the polls during elections. They also provided the same service during the Halloween carnival at no cost. Girls collected clothing for needy families, provided gifts for hospitalized children and plan to donate books to the Belle Glade Library.

The Custard Apple Association program is open to girls in the Lake Harbor-Belle Glade area. Through professional guidance by the council, the Girl Scout program can continue its program similar to its aims and objectives which have carried the scouting program for 48 years.

Pledge cards are being distributed in the area for donations. For those who wish to contribute and have not been contacted, arrangements can be made by contacting any of the above mentioned persons.

Walker and Mrs. Chas. Mansfield were selected to attend the Florida Congress of Parent-Teachers annual convention that will be held in Jacksonville Nov. 17-19 of this month.

Refreshments of punch, coffee, cookies and soft drinks were served to Mrs. Zumpf, Mrs. Daniels, Mrs. Madeline Roberts, Mrs. H. C. Willis, Mrs. Ed Galtys, Mrs. W. M. Jeffries, Mrs. Clayton Waters and Mrs. Meade Willis.

Strange Marriage Customs Develop From Ancients

The American bride sweeps down the aisle with all the self-satisfaction of a modern Diana returning from the hunt with a stag slung over her shoulder. But this ritual wasn't always the victory celebration of the female. And everything about the wedding — including the word itself — is designed to remind her that she once was, at best, a marketable commodity... and at worst, fair game for any strong-armed marauder.

The best man, for example, is believed to be a relic of the days when a man simply carried off a girl who had wandered too far from home. The husband-to-be usually brought along a muscular friend to flight off pursuers according to The World Book Encyclopedia.

The bridegroom had to hide out for a while until the girl's family got tired of searching for them. This was the beginning of the honeymoon.

Of course, these tactics didn't foster togetherness... and may have started the continuing battle between a husband and his mother-in-law.

The practice of buying a wife left a girl with fewer brides. But it didn't do much more for her pride, especially when some African tribes thought she was worth about one ox.

The betrothal of children was common among early Anglo-Saxons. The bridegroom's pledge of marriage was accompanied by a "wed" — security for the purchase price of the bride. From this comes our word "wedding."

"Giving the bride away" merely represents the time when the father delivered his daughter to her fiancé, who paid up. Among some modern tribes, however, notions of romance have persuaded the father to renounce his loot, and the bride gets the traditional gifts.

Some Social Security Regulations Are Still Misunderstood: Gehrkens

The amount of social security credit needed to qualify for retirement is still widely misunderstood. B. C. Gehrkens, Jr., district manager of the West Palm Beach Social Security office, said that many people get monthly social security benefits at retirement age. This is not true in the majority of cases.

A person who has reached retirement age and has worked long enough to be "insured" may get monthly social security payments. Retirement age is 65 for men and 62 for women. The amount of credit needed, called quarters of coverage, depends on the person's date of birth. As an example, a man born July 1894 would need 17 quarters of coverage, or 4 1/4 years. A woman born July 1897 would also need 17 quarters of coverage.

Gehrkens also pointed out that the younger the person is the more time he will generally need under "U. S. Government" in your telephone book. Information about your social security office and its services can also be obtained from your local post office.

East Lake started the attack with a 60-yard run in the first quarter. The Vikings then drove 80 yards to even the count. In the second half they scored twice and again in the fourth.

Big Test Lincoln Coach Ben McCoy gets his roughest test of the season Nov. 13 when his Vikings face Lake Shore of Belle Glade at West Riviera. McCoy was head coach at Belle Glade before coaching the coast position this year.

Ft. Pierce Drops Lake Shore 19-0

Lake Shore High School dropped a conference football tussle Friday night to Lincoln Park Academy of Ft. Pierce, 19-0, as frequent fumbles and lack of sustained drives spelled the difference to the Bobcats.

Greyhound Quarterback Clyde Harris and Halfback Louis Crutchfield and Robert Gandy provided the power for the winners who haven't lost a game and only six points have been scored on them all season. It was their fifth win.

The Bobcats dropped in the Southeastern Athletic Conference 1-3 and remain 3-5 for the season.

After the first quarter ended 0-0, Gandy intercepted a Bobcat pass at the 40 and ran to the 12. Harris passed to Crutchfield for the first score. The extra point try failed.

Harris finished another good pass to Lonnie Mathews good for 15 yards and another score later in the quarter. In the final stanza the Greyhounds scored as Crutchfield jumped over from the one-foot line after a 33-yard drive.

The Bobcats couldn't get any kind of a drive going because of fumbles and frequent penalties.

West pier now has wins over St. Riveria, Pompano, Blanche Ely, Stuart and Dan, the only team to score on them. They face undefeated Carver of Delray next week.

Veterans' Day Program Heard

Reported by East Lake School Tuesday morning, Nov. 10, at 8:45 a. m. the elementary department of East Lake School assembled for a program to observe soldiers of all wars.

This is called Veterans' Day program, and the program was sponsored by the third grade A class. This class is under the supervision of Mrs. M. B. Walker. After Mrs. Walker began planning and rehearsing the program, many interested students volunteered their services to honor soldiers of past wars.

We commend these students, hats off to them, school officials say. In the midst of flags red, white and blue, symbolic casket and a patriotic spirit, the program began.

The devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. E. T. Terrell, third grade B teacher. The audience sang "America" and "Onward, Christian Soldiers."

Readings were heard by the audience from Sylvia Ellington, Rosa Mae Furze and Verdel Allen. A skit, "Honoring Our Soldiers" gave honor to the living and dead soldiers of all wars.

After the skit, the group sang the "Caisson Song." Remarks were made by Marion M. Hamilton, principal. The group received a powerful ovation for a splendid program.

May we take this time to extend an invitation to you to come for our chapel assemblies. Our next program will be centered around the Thanksgiving theme. May we expect you?

After the first quarter ended 0-0, Gandy intercepted a Bobcat pass at the 40 and ran to the 12. Harris passed to Crutchfield for the first score. The extra point try failed.

Harris finished another good pass to Lonnie Mathews good for 15 yards and another score later in the quarter. In the final stanza the Greyhounds scored as Crutchfield jumped over from the one-foot line after a 33-yard drive.

The Bobcats couldn't get any kind of a drive going because of fumbles and frequent penalties.

West pier now has wins over St. Riveria, Pompano, Blanche Ely, Stuart and Dan, the only team to score on them. They face undefeated Carver of Delray next week.

Road Program Is Studied By County

The county Commission this week took the first step for setting up a multi-million dollar road building program for Palm Beach County.

The commission agreed to find out from the State Development Commission, how much money could be made available from a bond issue backed by gasoline taxes. Estimates were that from $3 to $8 million might be available for road construction.

The board is now in the final stages of paying off a similar bond issue which was used for financing construction of a number of roads and bridges through out the county.

The commission also took steps to set up a priority for road projects, following the recommendations of the state and destination survey.

In another action, the commission authorized the firm of Sullivan Nelson and West, Palm Beach, Fla., to draw up a proposal through which the county would finance its revolving fund for street improvements.

The fund is used to finance street improvements which is repaid by property owners. The plan now, is to sell the tax certificates made by property owners, to keep adequate money available in the revolving fund.

The Veterans' Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to questions of interest from a service man and their families:

Q. Is there a grace period for late payments of installments of loans?

A. No. Veterans should make their GI loan payments on or before the date they are due. An extra charge may be made by GI lenders when payments are received late.

Q. A neighbor of ours, the widow of a war veteran who died of a service-connected cause, has a 15-year old son who has a physical impairment. Would this boy have to wait until age 18 to start training under the War Orphans Education program?

A. No. Recent changes in the law now made it possible for physically handicapped children who are otherwise eligible to begin special types of War Orphans training when they reach age 14.

Q. I have a disability I believe is traceable to my service in the Armed Forces. Is there any deadline for filing a claim for disability compensation with the VA?

A. There is no deadline. You may apply any time. However, if you apply within a year from the date of your release from service, payments may be backdated to your first day as a civilian. If you apply after a year, you may be paid only from the date your application was filed.

Carnival Proved Most Successful

Belle Glade PTA Carnival Committee Chairman Urban Folsom, announced Tuesday night that the Halloween carnival grossed $2,153; however, some seven or eight hundred dollars worth of expenses must come from that amount.

PTA President Don Fisher said, "The carnival was a success for the PTA. The proceeds from the mch. Oct. 31 event would probably be about $1,200, which was a most successful profit. The expenses include cost of the wooden booths which of course, will be used again."

On Dec. 14 the proposed budget of some $1,700 will be presented to the membership. Funds will be spent for the two school library, remedial reading supplies, Glue Club and projector equipment if the budget is approved.

Also at the Dec. 14 meeting a final vote will be taken on the by-laws. At the last meeting, H. B. Johnson, by-law chairman, presented the laws for reading. A two-thirds vote must approve them at the next meeting.

Speaker at the last PTA meeting was W. L. Lanier, who spoke on "High School by-law chairman, presented the laws for reading. A two-thirds vote must approve them at the next meeting."

Bell Laboratories Develop Larynx Which Operates By Electronic Means

"A new self-contained electronic artificial larynx for persons who have lost their voices through surgical removal of the vocal cords has been developed by Bell Laboratories," state Zeké O'Farrell, Group Manager for Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company in the Glades.

In making the announcement O'Farrell carries out a Southern Bell policy of keeping the general public informed about the latest developments for better communications through research at Bell Laboratories.

Planned for distribution in 1960, the new electronic artificial larynx will be manufactured by Western Electric and Distributed nationwide by operating companies of the Bell System.

Persons who have lost their voices can communicate by means of esophageal speech, that is, speaking with air which is first swallowed and then re-exhaled through the esophagus in a controlled manner. This is considered by medical authorities to be the method of choice.

However, many who do this, and they may be helped by an artificial larynx.

The new electronic larynx allows them to speak conversationally with a minimum of difficulty and training. It is especially effective when conversing over the telephone.

The user can easily control the pitch of his artificial voice by means of a finger-operated combination push-to-talk switch and inflection control. This gives his speech a natural-sounding quality not obtained with other artificial larynges presently available.

The underlying principle of the new device is a vibrating driver (transducer) held against the throat. Completely self-contained and cylindrically shaped, it measures 3 3/4 inches in diameter by 3 1/4 inches in length.

Inside are a modified telephone receiver serving as the throat vibrator, an efficient transistorized power generator with pitch control and a battery power supply.

To use the unit, the person presses the vibrator against his throat. Switching on the power generator with his finger, he transforms vibrations transmitted into his throat cavities into speech sounds by normal use of the articulatory mechanisms—the throat, tongue, mouth, teeth and lips—in his vocal tract.

Output speech volume obtained with the new larynx is equal to that of a person speaking at a normal conversational level, though the sound is a bit buzzy and mechanical. Although intelligibility tests give results lower than those of normal speech, they are superior to those of any other artificial larynx.

For the first time science has found a new blood reducing method with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and relieve pain without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual shrinkage (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were achieved without the use of any medicine. The secret is a new blood reducing substance (Bio-Synal) discovered by a world-famous research institute. This substance is available in proprietary or patented form called Preparation 898. At all drug counters—money back guarantee.

The Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District has been notified that portions of its works will be inspected by a Congressional Delegation during the second week in November.

G. E. Dail, Jr., Flood Control District Executive Director, reported that the inspecting party will include Representatives Michael Kirwan (D., Ohio), Edward P. Boland (D., Mass.), members of the subcommittee of Public Works of the House Appropriations Committee and Eugene B. Wilhelm, Committee staff member.

Present plans call for the group to leave Fort Myers on the morning of November 13 and proceed to the East Coast around the northern rim of Lake Okeechobee. W. V. Storch, Flood Control District Engineer, will point out areas of Project responsibility and explain the needs of the program as reflected in the District's recent Report to the Bureau of the Budget. SECTION II

Visitors Learn How We Solve Our Migrant Problems

Tuesday a committee of officials from several of the eastern seaboard states visited Belle Glade as part of a planned program to give them a first-hand look at the migrant facilities in the Glades, according to State Rep. Emmett S. Roberts.

Roberts said the advisory group, composed of about two dozen advisors on migrant problems under the sponsorship of the Council of State Governments, held its first meeting outside Washington, D. C., by coming to West Palm Beach. Rep. Roberts moderated a panel discussion Tuesday night featuring Mrs. Ruth Shadd, Director of District Ten State Welfare Board; Mrs. Ruth Wedgeworth, Pelton Morris, BCHS Principal; and Dr. C. L. Brumback, director of the county health department; with the subject matter dealing with migrant problems at a local level.

Eye Opener
During the group's tour of the Belle Glade area, they stopped for lunch at Osceola Center where they heard from Julian Griggs, mentor of the nursery and Christian Ministry to Migrants effort at the center. Grant Averill, chairman of the Belle Glade Migrant Committee, also gave the group a sketch of the work which has been going on in the city to aid migrants and similar indigent individuals.

Much of the Glades tour was designed, Roberts said, to offset the unfavorable publicity which this area received two years ago when food lines formed at the national guard armory during the freeze-rain-freeze affair which kept workers out of the fields.

The organization of visitors will sponsor inter-state migrant programs to bring aid and assistance to migrants and make each state's program coincide with the other seaboard states.

This group sponsored the national migrant housing bill which provided for loans to producers and farmers to build low-cost migrant housing.

Belle Glade Work
Since the re-organization of the Belle Glade Migrant Committee a year ago, the help-to-migrants program has aided in 85 cases involving 200 people, 85 were local people, 100 were migrant people.

Only about 10% of these help-to-migrants cases, persons receive food, medicine or a place to sleep as they move through this area. Most of the cases are legitimate cases of need; however, some people have tried to take advantage of the program.

According to records of the migrant committee, strangers are screened by the police or some other organization, for all the area seems to help at one time or another. Cases are referred to the committee workers through churches, organizations of individuals.

Officials of the committee point out that many of these people don't want charity; however, they're caught in an unfortunate situation and must receive help before they can get back to work. The committee always seeks to help those who would first help themselves in some manner.

Donations
Much of the money to carry out this program comes from donations within the community or from the Palm Beach County Fund for Migrants. Local organizations ask for committee help only after their resources and scope have been exhausted.

More Help
Chairman Averill says the committee eventually hopes to get out of the welfare business. The Belle Glade Migrant group will extend its activities to educational help, vocational training and other phases of help to migrants.

They hope to co-ordinate efforts and eliminate wasted time rather than take on the actual details by itself. The effort is geared to extend its work from Lake Harbor to Belle Glade's area while Pahokee and Canal Point work with a separate group.

These two committees channel their information to a county migrant committee. When help is needed from a higher level, Roberts can help from his position as chairman of the Florida Inter-Agency Committee on Migrant Labor.

The entire program is moving in the direction to help the migrant help himself and bring about solutions to the problem.

Miss Barbara Roberts, which have been present for years.

What's The Difference?

"Operation Alert" Schooling Begins For Screwworm Eradication Program

Fifty livestock inspectors stationed in all parts of Florida are going back to school this month.

Their subject: How to tell the difference between the deadly primary screwworm fly and other common types of blowfly.

The purpose: To speed up field information gained from several hundred fly traps placed throughout the state by the State-Federal Screwworm Eradication Program.

With dispersals of sterile flies scheduled to end November 14 and work getting underway to mothball the program's huge mass-rearing and sterilizing facilities here, "watchfulness" is the keynote of the eradication program from now on.

All inspectors and zone supervisors will attend two-day study sessions to be conducted by entomologist who have specialized in identification work. Sessions November 9 and 10 will be held at Orlando, at the USDA Entomology Research Laboratory, for central Florida inspectors. Those from the northern part of the state will attend sessions November 17 and 18 at Tallahassee.

To tell whether a fly, maggot or egg mass is the real-homesick-screwworm, they must be able to make, and even kill, an animal it infests is no task for an amateur, according to the entomologists. Positive identification can be made only by careful microscopic examination.

The program's livestock inspectors won't have to learn how to do that. But they will be shown how to separate a true screwworm fly from the hundreds of other insects usually caught in special baited traps. Then they can get any suspected flies quickly to the survey data center where the entomologists will take over to give the final decision.

Co-operating in "operation aler" to watch in coming months for any signs of screwworm activity that may appear, will be thousands of people in Florida including livestock owners, 4-H and FFA youth, county agents, practicing veterinarians, wildlife agriculture teachers, wildlife officers and countless owners of domestic pets such as cats and dogs.

New Pink Lotion Strengthens Nails

With so many lovely new nail lacquer colors available today—one to match every costume—the big emphasis is on finger nails.

How do yours look? If they are healthy, sturdy, do not chip, crack or peel, you are among the luckier gals in the crowd, because so many women (and men, too) have problem nails which fall into the category of soft, brittle or weak.

How can we strengthen our nails? It is not as complicated as you might think. There is a new product now available—called ProteNail—which has been tried by many and has been proved successful. It is a pink lotion, rich in high potency protein, which you simply massage gently into the cuticle and over the nail to build strong "diamond" hard nails and at the same time condition the cuticle.

ProteNail is so easy to use! You can massage it in your nails while you're resting, reading your newspaper, watching TV, on your coffee break, or just sitting around talking. There's no messy soaking, dripping, staining, and there's no necessity for unsightly nails with a product like ProteNail now available to you. It may be applied right over your nail polish, too.

ProteNail is packaged in attractive unbreakable bottles, retailing at $1.50 for the regular size and $2.50 for the large economy size. It is also available in a plastic tube purse size retailing at $1.00—and may be purchased at your favorite cosmetics and toiletries departments at your favorite store.

Xmas Seal Letters Ready For Mailing

Over 64,500 Christmas Seal letters have been ready for mailing November 13 to Palm Beach County residents, organizations, and businesses, according to Emmett S. Roberts, County Christmas Seal Campaign Chairman of the County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Scores of volunteers from fifty different organizations some 3,000 hours of service in preparing for the campaign. A vote of thanks to all volunteers was given by the Board of Directors at a recent meeting. Mr. Roberts added.

"The Association must step up its four point program of Research, Health Education, Service to Patients, and especially Case Finding, if we are to hold the gains made thus far in controlling this communicable disease."

The Christmas Seal Campaign provides the sole support of the Association's year round program of TB prevention and good health. The response of the people to their Christmas Seal letters will determine whether the more complex and varied program necessary today, can be attacked with the same vigor and the same desire of success the County TB and Health Association has enjoyed during its forty year history. Mr. Roberts concluded.

Spin Fishing Tips From World's Champion

Champion caster, Johnny Dieckman never lets the big ones get away. He spins his lure right in the strike zone in an easy four-step approach. To get the most pleasure and excitement out of spin fishing you must have both good form and fishing tackle. A first-time fisherman as well as a veteran angler can enjoy relaxing sport and bring home a fish—not a story—by following a few simple rules with his Mitchell reel.

Practice short casts. Accuracy is more important than distance. Line up the target with your eye and rod. Both the up and the down stroke of your cast should follow a vertical line so that you "slice" the target with your rod.

Get ready to cast by reeling in the lure to within six inches of the rod tip. Pick up line on ball of right index finger and push ball over and down until it locks.

With your forearm and rod in straight line, smartly bring your hand to eye level and without stopping bring arm down with a crisp chopping motion. As the rod reaches level position, release line from index finger and your lure is out and away.

As the lure approaches target, the right index finger reaches out to front of spool feathering the line as it brushes against the finger. This reduces speed of the lure—stops it right on target.

The "drag" on Garcia-Mitchell spinning tackle keeps the line from breaking. Adjust below breaking point by turning the drag mechanism on front of spool. The line will slip rather than break while the big one darts and dashes to break free.
